Dear Bill:

Thank you for the notice of the next meeting of the WHO Medical Society. I am sorry to miss my friendly correspondent Josh Lederberg. I refer to him in my Yale lectures (Creative MInds in Medicine) as a medical student "gone wrong". As you know after a year's medicine at Columbia he went up for the summer to Yale and he never got back to medical studies, going on of course to the Nobel Prize in genetics.

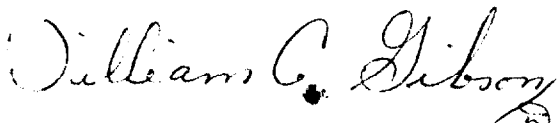

He writes me most interesting questions on medical history which I'm supposed to answer. I am afraid that I do not do very well on that.

The weather is just stupendous, and everything is in bloom and well advanced over eastern United States.

I hope that things went well in your recent discussions.

With much love to the family,

Yours sincerely,

William C. Gibson, M.D., F.R.C.P.
